The fourth annual Multicultural Luncheon, held Saturday, Feb. 8 at St. Peter UMC, was a timely communal celebration of multiculturalism in the South Georgia Conference. Rev. Dr. Ken Walden, president and dean of Gammon Seminary, was the luncheon presenter. He shared key points from his book, "Practical Theology for Church Diversity: A Guide for Clergy and Congregations." Thanks to all who participated, and special thanks to the Multicultural Luncheon Design Team and St. Peter UMC for hosting. For more information about Multicultural Ministries, contact Rev. Earnestine Campbell, Associate Director of Connectional Ministries, at earnestine@sgaumc.com. The Multicultural Luncheon is an annual event sponsored by The Office of Connectional Ministries.
